

Archery

It's thousands of years old and throughout the years has been enjoyed by kings, queens and even pharaohs in Egypt. In target archery you aim your arrows at a target a certain distance away. After a set number of arrows the target is moved to a different distance, with the archer remaining in the same spot.

Laser Skirmish

Laser skirmish is a fun team combat activity that can be played indoors, outdoors and even at night and it is similar to paintball (without the projectiles and bruises). It's also similar to laser tag however laser skirmish weapons have a much longer range of up to 150 metres. The objective of the game is to sneak through the bush and take out your competition using telescopic scopes. This is about as realistic as it gets outside of the military and you'll get rolling battles played out over the battlefield where everyone works together to conquer the competition.

Bushwalking

Whether you are a group of beginners or an experienced bushwalker, Glenworth Valley can offer you a rewarding day in the Australian bush. We have 3000 spectacular acres and 50kms of private trails to explore.
